Mr. Welch received invitations from each class yesterday asking him to join them today for a normal everyday activity in their classrooms. Plus he received lots of cards and gifts as he traveled throughout the school.

The 3rd / 4th graders invited Mr. Welch to their computer class. He learned how to make "comics" on the computer.

Then Mr. Welch joined the 2nd Grade class during their Spanish class. They first sang songs they learned to Mr. Welch, and then Mrs. Bailey taught "all" of them a new song about the planets.

Then it was time to use some technology with the Kindergarteners. Mr. Welch is using his finger to pull turkey feathers to unscramble the class' high frequency words.

Mrs. Sharp and the Pre-K students started off their time reading The Giving Tree to Mr. Welch. Then the PK students listened while Mr. Welch read: Pet the Cat and the School Shoes and Pet the Cat and the Walking Shoes to them.

The 5th Grade used the Smartboard to quiz Mr. Welch on Thanksgiving trivia while eating his favorite snack after lunch!

The classroom, Sixth Grade, continued playing games with Mr. Welch. The students taught Mr. Welch how to play the card game "Kimps".

Next Mr. Welch spent time with the 1st Grade students during their Art class. They made turkeys by tracing their hands for the feathers and foot for the turkey body. I'm sure these will be on display soon in the hallway.

Mr. Welch finished his day assisting in the 7th/8th grade P.E. class. Love your tennis shoes!
