Dear Senator Reid, Senator McConnell, Speaker Pelosi and Representative Boehner,

We are writing today to request your assistance in addressing the looming Fiscal Year 2007 federal funding shortfall for the State Children's Health Insurance Program (SCHIP). Unless Congress acts expeditiously, health insurance for some of our States' most vulnerable citizens is in jeopardy.

As you know, Congress created SCHIP in 1997 as a bipartisan approach to address the growing number of children without health insurance in America. The stated goal of the program was to provide insurance to five million low-income children within ten years. With more than 6.1 million children receiving benefits, SCHIP has met that goal and is widely considered a national success.

Despite this success, SCHIP is governed by a flawed and counterproductive distribution formula that penalizes the states successfully implementing the mission of the program. According to the Congressional Research Service, forty states now have expenditures greater than their federal SCHIP allotment per year and at least fourteen states are facing federal matching shortfalls for FY 2007. Without quick Congressional action, our states, all facing federal shortfalls, will be forced to make harsh decisions affecting the lives of thousands of families.

With states facing federal matching shortfalls as early as March, SCHIP funding has reached critical status in many of our states. We request that you consider covering current year shortfalls at the earliest possible opportunity, whether as stand alone legislation or in the emergency supplemental appropriations bill. Our states stand ready to be partners in this program and meet the state portions of the funding, but the clock is ticking. We need Congressional assistance quickly to strengthen and preserve this successful program.

Thank you for your time and assistance in this important matter.

Sincerely,

Sarah Palin
